

Mirror

She raised her dirty hands
She looked at her broken strands
I watched her cover her broken nose
Watched her hope for more
I listened to her cries
Listened to her demise
But we touched our hands
We held our breath
Waiting for it to simmer
But it was just a mirror